1. The kinds of Special Educational Needs for which provision is made at the school	What kinds of SEND do students have in your school?	Children are identified as having SEND when they have a significantly greater difficulty in learning than the majority of children the same age or have a disability which prevents or hinders them from making use of education facilities of a kind generally provided for children of the same age in schools within the area of the Local Authority (SEND Code of Practice 2015). At George Pindar School, we cater for and provide for students with a variety of needs. Students at GPS have a range of difficulties including <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Speech, Language and Communication needs (SLCN);</li> <li>• Social, Emotional and Mental Health difficulties (SEMH);</li> <li>• Moderate Learning Difficulties (MLD);</li> <li>• Specific Learning Difficulties (SpLD) such as dyslexia;</li> <li>• Physical disability (PD);</li> <li>• Visual Impairment (VI);</li> <li>• Hearing Impairment (HI);</li> <li>• Autistic Spectrum Disorder (ASD);</li> </ul>
2. Information, in relation to mainstream schools about the school's policies for the identification and assessment of students with special educational	How do you know if a child needs extra help?	When your child first joins George Pindar School, we use information from a range of sources to help identify SEND and other needs. These include information from parents/carers; primary school teachers; end of key stage 2 levels; base line testing; literacy and numeracy tests; application form information; specialist colleagues and external agencies. Our class teachers, Achievement Leaders and Heads of Year closely monitor the progress and attainment of all students, including those who have or may have SEND. The continuous monitoring of students during their time at George Pindar School will further identify students with a Special Educational Need. This identification may come from tutors, subject teachers, Learning Support team, Achievement Leaders, outside agencies, parents/carers or the students themselves. If your child needs to be assessed

needs.		we would use a range of assessments depending on the area of need. If it is thought a family needs support, we have good working relationships with outside agencies and a referral can be made to them. We follow a staged and graduated approach to identifying and assessing needs, using the 'Assess, Plan, Do, Review' model. The triggers for intervention could be the teacher's, Learning Support Team 's or other's concern, underpinned by evidence, about a pupil who, despite receiving differentiated learning opportunities, doesn't make expected progress. All students with SEND are on the SEND or Monitoring registers which are accessible to all staff. Staff use this information to inform their lesson planning, teaching and student learning activities. Targeted interventions are planned and delivered where appropriate. This may include small group or individual work across a broad range of activities.
3a. How the school evaluates the effectiveness of its provision for such students?	How will I know that my child is making progress? How do you evaluate provision?	All students, including those with SEND, are assessed on a regular basis, in accordance with the School's Assessment, Recording and Reporting Policy. Teachers regularly formally assess and review progress and attainment which is communicated to parents/carers by a report that is sent home. Additionally, parents' evenings are held once a year when there is an opportunity to discuss progress, attainment and next steps. All students with a Statement or Education, Health &amp; Care Plan have an Annual Review. The school has a Quality Assurance processes that assesses the effectiveness of Teaching and Learning for all students, including those with SEND and the outcomes of these evaluations are used to create and implement development plans for all aspects of school life. These are reviewed through regular evaluation. Additionally progress and attainment data for students is analysed for effectiveness and value for money.
3b. The school's arrangements for assessing	How do you check and review the progress of my child and how will I be involved?	The school will send home reports which will show your child's current and target levels as well as reporting on their attitude to learning. Heads of Faculty, Achievement Leaders and the SENCo will monitor and review your child's levels. We may then put an intervention in place if necessary. This could be an in-class intervention or a small group

and reviewing the progress of students with special educational needs		intervention. At the next reporting time we will check whether the right progress has been made. We welcome the involvement of parents/carers and want to keep you up to date and involved with your child's progress. We do this through parents' evenings; notes in planners; email; telephone calls; appointments made with individual teachers; and Annual Reviews for those students with Statements or Education and Health Care Plans. The school provides regular information for parents through newsletters; information on the website; Parents Evenings and letters home.
3c. The school's approach to teaching students with special educational needs	How do teachers help students with SEND?	Our teachers have high expectations of all students, including those with SEND. All teachers will be told about your child's individual needs and will adapt their lessons to meet these requirements. Teachers have experience and are trained in doing this. This may involve using different strategies, more practical/adaptation of resources and activities. This means your child can access the lessons fully. Within school there are a variety of staff roles to help us fully support your child. Where it is felt it is the right thing to do a student may be offered additional help and support, in which case you would be informed. There are a range of interventions and additional subject support which are available and should your child need this, it would be discussed with you. When your child is in Key Stage 4, if we think it is needed, we will assess and apply for exam Access Arrangements according to the Joint Council for Qualifications exam regulations.

This may include option choices; additional literacy; nurture groups; intervention groups and number of qualifications studied. Our school is a safe and accessible building and we do our best to make it welcoming to the whole community. They have a huge range of skills to offer in supporting students directly and indirectly, assisting staff and helping parents/carers. Students with Statements/EHCP's will have targets and strategies in order to meet those targets.
